

2024 Page Annual Conference

Brad Burns
Chief Communications Officer,
Snowflake

Brad Burns leads Snowflake's Communications organization, advancing the company's reputation and growth around the world.

Burns has three decades of experience providing communications counsel to executive teams in highly-competitive industries, especially around financial and M&A communications, high-visibility product launches, communicating globally and intensive issues management.

Prior to Snowflake, Burns was the Chief Communications Officer of Salesforce; SVP of Corporate Communications for AT&T; SVP of Communications for Revolution LLC; and SVP of Corporate Communications for MCI.

Burns holds a B.A. from Southern Methodist University.