Simon Kuper Award-Winning Author & Journalist

Simon Kuper is a leading columnist and speaker on urban life, globalisation, Europe and football. He has been writing for the Financial Times for nearly 30 years. His column in the weekend magazine has won multiple awards and is read by tens of thousands of people around the world. Although he is now best known for his analyses of modern life, from the future of offices to Brexit, Simon is also well-known for his insights into sport. Simon is the author of numerous books: "Barca", written with inside access to FC Barcelona, was published in 2021, and won the Sunday Times award for Football Book of the Year. His bestselling "Chums: How a Tiny Caste of Oxford Tories Took Over the UK", appeared in 2022. His memoir of modern Paris, Impossible City, is published in April 2024, in time for the Olympics. His new football podcast, Heroes & Humans, launched in March 2024. As well as being a prolific writer, Simon often appears on television as a sport and cultural commentator.
