Troy R. Scully
VP, Global Public Affairs,
The Goodyear Tire & Rubber
Company

Troy Scully leads Goodyear's global public affairs function, responsible for guiding the company's public policy priorities and actively engaging with government officials everywhere the company operates worldwide. He and his team are also responsible for nurturing relationships with industry associations, think tanks and non-governmental organizations, among other key stakeholders.

He has more than 20 years' experience across all facets of corporate affairs, with extensive involvement in external and internal communications, government and regulatory affairs, investor relations, and corporate responsibility.

Prior to his current role, Troy was based in Brussels, Belgium, where he led the company's Europe, Middle East and Africa Communications and Public Affairs team since 2019.

Before joining Goodyear in 2016, Troy was a communications and public affairs director at Lockheed Martin, the world's largest aerospace and defense company, where he held increasingly responsible external affairs roles for a range of U.S. and international defense, science and technology programs.

Troy earned his undergraduate degree from Syracuse University's Newhouse School of Public Communications and completed his executive studies in corporate affairs at Oxford University's Saïd Business School.
